WATER WORKS LOAN.

As will be observed by perusing the explanatory letter published by His Worship the Mayor, through the authority of the Council, in regard to the proposed improvement of the water works service of this city, it is not intended to impose any additional tax, nor is it necessary to do so, for the payment of interest and sinking fund. It is only pledging for that special purpose, as required by the Act, a portion of the taxes now collected. It is well understood by gentlemen in a position to know, that any moneys taken out of that portion of the general revenue collected on real estate for the yearly payment of $6,372, which is required to provide for the sinking fund and interest on the proposed loan, will be more than recouped by profits from the water works service. As an illustration of how the requirements for water service is increasing, and consequently the revenue growing in a like ratio, for the month of April last there were forty-seven applications made and granted for new water services, viz:

Twenty-six at $1 per month	$26 00
Eleven at $1 50 per month	16 50
One at $2 per month	2 00
Three at $4 per month	12 00
Two at $5 per month	10 00
Two for building purposes, about $8 per m.	16 00
One for shipping, 600 per 24 gals, per m.	29 00
Two for brickyards, about	32 00
	$123 50

From the above it will be seen that the water receipts for the year at the same ratio would amount to $1482. The sum received for service to builders might not be required during a few months in winter, but the rate per month for brickyard service is an average for the year, so that the reader can see at a glance that Mayor Rithet is inside the mark when he states, "that with the increased supply it may be safely estimated that the increased revenue will be sufficient, within the next two years, to meet the amount of $6372."

The citizens have a right to expect, nay demand, that a fair and equitable supply of water be furnished to all parts of the city, as in the first place, for the construction of these water works the whole of the real estate in Victoria was pledged for the payment of sinking fund and interest on the debentures issued. If a demand were made to supply all house-holders within the Corporation, there is no denying one thing, and that is, that many uses to which the water is now put, and from which the city receives a handsome return for the investment, would have to be shut off. Those private individuals who offered the Corporation a profit of from $60,000 to $100,000 upon the investment made by the city in our water works, knew what they were about. No doubt if it had fallen into a company's hands the city would have had a complete service. If it would have been profitable to them, why not profitable if made by the Corporation? The several offers were rejected by the Council and justly so, as they in common with others, no doubt, thought that the service would in the near future be a fine source of revenue.

The protection of the city against fire by having a large supply of water stored in the reservoirs ought, in itself, to be a sufficient reason for the passage of the loan By-law, as it must be patent to all, that, in the event of a large fire occurring, and a break in the water mains at the same time, the consequences might be very serious, in fact whole blocks of the city might be swept away before water could be had to fight and subdue the flames. We recommend the rate payers to carefully read the letter referred to, and the accompanying report made to the last Council by a number of gentlemen who examined during three evenings Mr. Hendry's proposed scheme. Those engineers, after careful consideration of the scheme, must have been in a better position to judge as to its merits than people generally who have not had the same opportunities. The report speaks for itself. There is another very cogent reason why the By law should pass. It will be the best part of two years before the proposed work would be completed, and if the ratepayers should wait till the needed improvement is forced upon them, they can at once see what straits they might be in for water before anything positive could be accomplished.

One of the objections made by the opponents of the scheme is, that the sum estimated for the work is not more than half enough. To that it can be said that the evidence of the engineers who signed the report is such that there is no room for doubt but that the sum asked for is sufficient. In connection with the building of the reservoirs, the lowest estimate in other parts of the world is $12, for every 1000 gallons capacity, the highest $23. In view of these estimates it has been considered safe to say, $30 for every 1000 gallons in the construction of the reservoirs in this city, and that estimate has been endorsed by competent judges, and no doubt will be found to be correct.

Others who object to the scheme say that if the mains were enlarged throughout the city that there would be an abundance of water for every one. Surely, such advocates have not considered the subject. Does any one for a moment mean to say that if a 12 inch pipe were extended across James Bay that it would have a full flow of water, provided, none were drawn from it after the water entered the pipe at the fountain head. The merest novice knows that in such an instance less than half the capacity of a pipe would carry it with the present pressure. Or does any one advance, that if we had a 6 inch pipe up Fort street, that houses on the same level as Mrs. Ella's, Mr. Fell's or Mr. Heywood's would get a supply of water in winter, when for days, at that season of the year, they cannot get any. The idea in itself is absurd. The fact is, the supply is insufficient. Glance for a moment at how the water is distributed: A 12-inch main is laid as far as the Iron Church; before it reaches that point it is tapped by one 6-inch, two 4-inch, one 3-inch, one 2½-inch and one 2-inch pipes, so it will be readily seen that a considerable quantity of water is drawn before the supply reaches the City Hall. From the Iron Church to Pandora street the main is 11 inch; Pandora to Yates, 10; being reduced further till it reaches Humboldt street, where it is 8 inch. From the foregoing it will at once be seen that the laying of larger pipes throughout the city is not so much required as is a greater volume of supply. Taking the average use of water in the city at 12 hours per day, the supply, as it is at present, remains stationary for the next 12 hours. With the reservoir system the draft on the fountain head would be continuous, so that the actual supply would be double what it is at present. To distribute this increased supply it will be necessary to lay larger distributing pipes in many instances. The proposed improvement to be carried out, for which the loan is asked, was fully set forth in our columns on Saturday, April 25th—the main points of which are the building of a reservoir in the neighborhood of the Royal Hospital, with a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons, and the construction of a high service reservoir, with a capacity of 100,000 gallons at a point some 28 feet above the level of Elk Lake, being the head of supply. The water is to be forced up to the high reservoir by the means of a self acting hydraulic engine, operated by the flow of the water through the mains and into the low service reservoir.

To correct an erroneous impression held by a writer in THE TIMES of April 30th, signed "Civis" the proposed scheme does not contemplate any waste in lifting the water to the high reservoir, as the whole of the water which operates the hydraulic engine flows into the low reservoir, not a drop of which is lost. It is proposed by the scheme in question to expend the $70,000, as follows: Building of the two reservoirs $48,000; extension of the mains within the city limits $12,000; purchase of land necessary, about $5,000; contingencies $5,000—which may not be required in which case the debentures will not be issued. Before this work can be completed under the present proposal, we have no hesitation in prophesying tha tthe need of the proposed improvement will be keenly felt, and if this scheme is allowed by the ratepayers to fall through, they will much regret it.

Had the fire which occurred on Johnson street the other night started two hours sooner there is no saying what amount of property might have been destroyed as the water was not turned on in the mains only about ten minutes before the alarm was given. This might happen at any time. Hence the necessity for a storage of water such as the reservoirs would give, which is a further reason why the by-law should carry.

The Creeds of Our People.

The census return of 1881, volume four of which has just been published, gives the religious creeds of the population of British Columbia as follows:

Adventists	10	Methodists	3,316
Baptists	424	Pagans	427
Brethren	7	Presbyterians	4,095
Catholics	10,042	Quakers	12
C. of England	7,804	Unitarians	54
Congregationalists	75	Universalists	29
Disciples	28	Other denominations
Episcopal	300	Sions	2,420
Jews	104	Without creeds	183
Lutherans	493	Not given	19,131

More than half of the whole population, it will be seen are not classified. It is very doubtful if these figures are now, four years after the time the information was gathered, even approximately correct. The population has since that time increased by many thousands.

A Laudable Step.

A number of the ladies of this city met at the residence of Mr. D. W. Higgins on Saturday afternoon to organize a nurse corps for attendance on wounded soldiers, in case of war with Russia and an attack by the enemy on our city. Temporary officers were elected and a public meeting of women will be held in the city hall to permanently organize. This step on the part of the ladies is highly commendable. The soldiers, or at least a large proportion of the number required, have yet to be found.

Postal Packages.

Postal packages for the interior from the east have been detained at New Westminster until the parties to whom they were forwarded sent the amount required for duty. Under a new arrangement they will be forwarded to Kamloops, Clinton or Barkerville, and the postmasters at those places are empowered to collect the duty and deliver the packages. This change will be appreciated by the settlers.

Died From His Injuries.

On Thursday last, Tim Murphy, well known in the province and on the Sound, was injured in the logging camp at Burrard Inlet, and while on his way for medical treatment died from the effects of his injuries. He was buried at New Westminster on Saturday.

A Secret Treaty Reported.

LONDON, May 4.—The Sunday editions of the London newspapers confirm the report that a secret treaty has been made between England and Turkey, according to the terms of which England will be allowed to send men-of-war through the Dardanelles in case of war.

War Preparations to Cease.

LONDON, May 4.—The Government has sent an order to Dover to cease chartering ships of small pattern for transport service. This is believed to foreshadow the stoppage of war preparations.

Russia Asks for Time.

LONDON, May 4.—The Cabinet Council on Saturday had under consideration a dispatch received from Sir Edward Thornton, British Minister to Russia, stating that M. DeGiers, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, has asked for time in which to discuss and interpret the agreement of March 17, before deciding whether an arbitration was required to settle the pending difficulties. As a result at the Cabinet discussion Earl Granville intimated his willingness to defer the laying of the dispatch before a third power for settlement, provided M. DeGiers admitted the principle of arbitration. A further communication from Sir Edward Thornton was received at the Foreign office to-night. It is reported that the English Minister states in this dispatch that Russia accepts the principle of arbitration. The Cabinet Council has been summoned for to-morrow. The Czarina, whose influence is nearly absolute over the Czar, is actively assisting in peace negotiations.

The Times Still Hostile.

LONDON, May 4.—The Times urges that the advance upon Herat by the Russians should constitute a distinct "casus belli" without further debate or discussion.

Arbitration Agreed To.

LONDON, May 4.—In the House of Lords this afternoon Granville in reply to inquiries stated that England and Russia had agreed to renew negotiations in London concerning the Afghan frontier question, and that a meeting of the delimitation commission had been arranged in detail. His Lordship said both England and Russia had agreed that the difficulties which had arisen from the Penjdeh incident should be submitted to a full investigation and reference to friendly powers.

Good Prospects of Peace.

LONDON, May 4.—The News, Government organ in a leading editorial, says the prospects for peace have been much cleared and more amply confirmed within the last 48 hours. A Russian dispatch, conciliatory in tone and substance was sent to the Government by telegraph, after the Czar had conferred with his minister, and a Courier, with an official written reply to Earl Granville, is now on his way to London. The News warnes its readers however against a hasty conclusion that peace is assured.

The Money Market.

LONDON, May 4.—11 a. m.—Consols closed on Saturday at 96, opened this morning at 97 for both money and accounts, and in few minutes advanced to 97¼, and, at this hour are quoted at 97⅜. Russian securities of 1873 are 91; stocks very firm; home and foreign securities buoyant.

1 p. m.—Consols, 97 11-16.
2 p. m.—Consols, 97⅝.

Arabs Still Troublesome

SUAKIM, May 4.—El Mahdi's men are becoming more daring every day. Last night they surrounded Zambouk and Cato and kept up a heavy fire on both places all night. The firing was, however, made from too long range to be effective. Another forward movement by British troops is expected to take place to-morrow.

An Honest Expedient.

Moscow, May 4.—The Gazette says it has reason to believe that an honest expedient has been found, by which both sides can settle the Russo-English dispute.

Fighting Strikers.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Adjutant-General Vance has telegraphed Governor Oglesby an account of the riot at Lamont this afternoon. He relates that Col. Bennett, with four companies of infantry and one Gatling gun, reached Lamont at 9 this morning, where a mob of one thousand strikers was congregated. They were ordered to disperse and refused to do so, and made a rush at the troops, throwing stones and injuring a number of soldiers. There were shots fired from a house and also fired into the column itself. In response the troops fired, killing two strikers and wounding several others. The troops then proceeded to their destination to guard the quarries.

New Explosives.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Lieut. G. M. Stoney, commanding the exploring expedition, sailed to-day on schooner Viking for the purpose of further exploring Putnam river, recently discovered by him. The expedition will proceed to Skidson Inlet in the Viking, and from there will explore Putnam river in a steam launch built here for that purpose. Every possible aid known to science, suitable to exploration and observation, has been provided for the survey and important discoveries are expected to be made.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Latest From the Seat of War—Indians Leaving Their Reserves.

Special to THE TIMES.

WINNIPEG, May 4.—Indian Agent McDonald has gone to Touchwood Hills where the Indians have left their reserve. They have plenty provisions and McDonald does not see why they have left the reserves and he will try to get them back. There is a report that they have gone north but it is not confirmed.

MAJOR WALSH AND THE HALF-BREEDS.

WINNIPEG, May 4.—The telegraph line is still down west of Humboldt, and nothing has come through yet. Major Walsh has been visiting the half-breeds at Fort Qu'Appelle, and has every confidence that they will prove loyal. Many of them have friends and relatives in Riel's camp, and say if it were in their power they would induce them to withdraw.

THE REMAINS OF SWINFORD AND FERGUSON.

WINNIPEG, May 4.—The remains of Lieutenant Swinford are expected to arrive here to-morrow. It is the intention to embalm his body. It may be forwarded to Guelph, Ontario, in which city is the family burying plot.

The remains of private Ferguson of the 90th, killed at Cast Creek arrived at Qu'Appelle to-day. They will be embalmed and brought to this city. There is no abatement in the excitement here. Every item of interest it eagerly looked for. The city is enveloped in grief. The newspapers appear with inverted rules in memoriam for the departed. Nothing else is now thought of but the punishment to be meted out to the villians who have been the means of bringing such woe upon the city.

THE C. P. R. AND NAVIGATION ON THE UPPER LAKES.

WINNIPEG, May 4.—From the Canada Pacific officers it is learned that nagivation will open between Port Arthur and the Eastern provinces in ten days. They have three iron clad ocean steamers, said to be the finest on the continent, that will make connection with their trains at Owen Sound.

Occupation of Port Hamilton.

TIENTSIN, China, May 4.—An English fleet has occupied Port Hamilton. The Chinese protest against this as a violation of the integrity of Corea.

Bush Fire All Along the Line.

Special dispatch to THE TIMES.

MATSQUI, May 4.—During the past week the weather has been very warm, the thermometer ranging from 75° to 84° in the shade, with no signs of a change. Bush fires are ranging all along the line from Seattle to New Westminster, causing frequent interruptions to telegraph communication and destroying great quantities of valuable timber.

The water in Fraser river at this point is rising very slowly, notwithstanding the great heat.

RIEL AND "HIS" COUNCILLORS.

Reports of the Scouts Submitted—The War to be a Summer's Job.

A Qu'Appelle special to the Toronto Mail on the 27th says: It is said on high authority here that on Saturday last Riel and his councillors held a council of war at Grandin. All the information obtained by the rebel scouts was submitted and discussed. The scouts had dogged Gen. Middleton's column all the way from the Touchwood hills. Gabriel Dumont commanded them in person. They ascertained the exact strength of the force, and were thoroughly informed as to the weakness of the transport service. The council unanimously determined to fight; the rebel forces to be split up into small mounted bands and to attack the troops wherever and whenever they could do so with advantage. It was also determined that when the retreat was begun the whole country should be fired behind them. The sun and wind of the past few days have dried the prairie grass, and fires will be started at once. The report that Riel has had trouble with Dumont is wholly untrue. In fact, nearly all the reports circulated by white settlers from the Duck Lake region are known to be false or very highly colored. The following message comes direct from one of Riel's head men:

"We do not want to fight, but Dewdney is forcing us. Crozier was too much excited to know what he was doing when he told his men to shoot at Duck Lake. Our blood has been spilled, and now we shall spill theirs. We have a large force. The foot soldiers cannot defeat us. The Government scouts are no good. The commander thinks he is dealing with children. We shall see."

The rebels evidently intend to make a summer's work of it, as their families are coming down from the north to their friends in this valley. The rebels thought the troops would have taken the lower or old trail from Touchwood across Wolverine creek, and then south of Little Manitou lake to the old Moose ferry at Moose Wood, and had scouts out in that quarter. From all we can gather here, the rebels are in the woods at Moose and further up the river, and will not attack the Northcote after she passes the Elbow, and then make for Battleford.

Death of Robert Hawe Austen.

At 5 o'clock this morning another pioneer of this province passed away. Deceased was a native of Halifax, N. S., was 71 years of age and came to Victoria on the 16th of May, 1858. He was a nephew of Hon. Joseph Howe and a brother of Jos. Austen, Esq., formerly of the excise department of Nova Scotia. He was highly respected and had a large number of friends in this city and San Francisco where he resided for some time. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

The Fur Market.

The Montreal fur market has continued very dull, under the depressing influences of the general stagnation in business. Quotations are made as follows: Beaver, fall, 2 lb, $2; beaver, winter, 2 lb, $2 50@3; bear, large, 2 skin, $7@10; fisher, 2 skin, $3@5; otter, large dog, 2 skin, $6@8; otter, small, $4@7; marten, 2 skin, 60@80c. Skins not prime may be valued at 25@50 per cent less than quotations.

TRADE RETURNS.

The Toronto Mail gives the following statistics relative to trade as the result of the first nine months of the present financial year:

The imports entered for home consumption for the month of March, 1885, exclusive of British Columbia, were as follows: Dutiable goods, $5,899,523; coin and bullion, $22,114; free goods, $2,055,058. Total, $7,976,695. The duty collected during the month amounted to $1,436,027. Compared with March, 1884, the dutiable goods entered for consumption last month were $420,531 less, and the free goods $335,094 more. The exports for the month of March, 1885, amounted to $3,875,156, of which $3,435,395 were produce of Canada, and $439,761 produce of other countries. Compared with March, 1884, this is an increase of $870,040 in the total export, an increase of $669,540 in the export of goods the produce of Canada, and an increase of $200,500 in export of goods the produce of other countries. The increases are: Products of fisheries of Canada, $40,643; of forests of Canada, $212,882; of Canadian animals and their products, $264,775; of agricultural products, $247,930. There is a decrease in the export of products of the mines of $24,000. During the nine months ended 31st March, 1885, the value of goods entered for home consumption exclusive of British Columbia was $73,965,255, being $3,842,751 less than during the corresponding months of 1883-84. The duties collected during the past nine months amount, exclusive of British Columbia, to $14,649,057, being $724,580 less than during the nine months ended 31st March, 1884. Of the total imports for home consumption during the past nine months there were dutiable, $58,331,430; coin and bullion, $461,297; free goods, $19,015,279. Compared with the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year the dutiable goods entered for home consumption during past nine months show a decrease of $4,392,000, and free goods, exclusive of coin and bullion, a decrease of $1,228,000. A comparison of some of the articles imported for home consumption shows that the importation of cotton manufactures for home consumption was $1,330,400 less in last nine months than in same months of previous fiscal year; that of manufactures of wood $227,000 less; of iron and steel $2,275,000 less; of spirits $48,000 less; of silks $90,000 increase. The total exports during the past nine months, including British Columbia, were $68,029,503, which is $942,588 more than during same period of the previous fiscal year. The principal increases are in exports of agricultural products and of animals and their products. The chief decrease is in the exports of the products of the forests, which was in the past nine months $15,700,000, against $19,200,000, a decrease of $3,500,000 in this staple export. The increase of the exports of the last nine months, in the face of this large decrease of three and a half millions in the exports of the forest, is most gratifying, as also is the fact that the decrease in dutiable goods entered for home consumption is so largely made up of articles which we manufacture ourselves.

SHAKESPEARE ON SHAKESPEARE.

In the House of Commons on the 23rd, (St. George's Day) MR. NOAH SHAKESPEARE, M. P., for this city, is reported in the Mail to have addressed the House as follows: I move that when this House rise at 6 o'clock this afternoon, it do stand adjourned until to-morrow at 3 o'clock, in honor of the patron saint of Old England. This is St. George's Day, Mr. Speaker. It is the anniversary of the martyrdom of the patron saint of England, great in story and mother of immortal men. I think, with becoming modesty, it is fitting that I, who bear the glorious name of one of those immortal men WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE (loud laughter) should be the humble individual to introduce a resolution which is intended to do honor to St. George, to England, and to the British Empire. The history of St. George is somewhat obscure, but sufficient is known of him to cause him to be almost universally recognized as the patron of chivalry, a brave soldier, fearing God and not man. In this time of war and rumors of war, when strong hearts and arms are of more importance than even the wisdom, sagacity, and philosophy of politicians, the adjournment of this great council would be a fitting recognition of the services of that great leader, who opposed the enemies of Christianity.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD in reply said it is quite impossible that my hon. friend's motion can carry at this time and under present circumstances. I have no doubt that under ordinary circumstances we would be very glad to do honor to ST. GEORGE and the red cross, but just now, with so much business before the House, I think we must celebrate it in our hearts and not by an adjournment.

MR. PETER MITCHELL was of the opinion that in honor of his namesake, MR. SHAKESPEARE should treat the House to a dinner. To this proposition SIR JOHN said that if the suggestion of my hon. friend from Northumberland is carried out, the Government will not consider it as a vote of want of confidence. (Laughter.)

DISPATCHES from southeastern Kansas report the heaviest rain-fall ever known there, with consequent disastrous floods and destruction of animals and property. If a country is wanted that is free from cyclones, hurricanes, floods, the Colorado bug, the beetle, Hessian fly, the Weevil, Midge or any other pestilential trouble, that country is British Columbia, and now that half a million immigration pamphlets have been published setting forth the advantages of this country, the world should not be in darkness any longer as to our great advantages over many other plague-stricken countries.

VICTORIA, under the amended General Inspection Act, is to be made a port of inspection. An inspector general for the Province will be appointed, whose duties shall be to decide disputes between sub-inspectors and parties interested. The new Act provides that inspection is not compulsory. It is the intention of the bill, amongst other matters, to define the grades of wheat, to authorize the appointment of a board to select standards of grain for the use of the inspectors, to provide for the inspection of herrings, gaspereaux, alewives and cod, and to authorize the appointment of inspectors of leather and raw hides.

THE political composition of the next British Government is likely to be coalition. The franchise and redistribution of seats having been settled, certain large causes of agitation are removed. Both liberals and conservatives will now cultivate the new constituencies to the best of their ability, and it may not be that the liberals will always have the lead. By conceding accomplished facts, the conservatives may make the best of the situation.

FEW people have any idea of the extent of the tobacco manufactures of this continent or of their rapid growth. Last year 3,457,309,017 cigars and 994,334,000 cigarettes were manufactured in the United States alone, requiring over 91,000,000 pounds of leaf. In 1872 not 40,000,000 pounds were used. The vast bulk of tobacco, however, is consumed in "other manufactures," which required 217,451,000 in 1884.

THE lamb and the lion were lately together in Ottawa in the persons of MESSRS. HICKSON of the Grand Trunk and VAN HORNE of the C. P. Railway. A Montreal paper says that it is not an easy matter to find just exactly what occurs at those meetings of great men, and especially of these railway magnates, for, like the Heathen Chinee, they are rather up in "the ways that are dark and the tricks that are vain."

MISS MARY ANDERSON breakfasted a few morning's since with MR. GLADSTONE at his official residence at Downing street. There were present EARL GRANVILLE, LORD FITZMAURICE, and a few of the Premier's most intimate friends.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has decided not to appoint civilians to official positions in the army as long as vacancies can be filled by the advancement of officers already in the service.

SAVED BY STRATAGEM.

Dinner was over at last, and Mr. Walter Currie, English commissioner at the up-country station at Hutta-Bagh, in northern India, had gone out upon the veranda with his wife and his two guests—Col. Ayres and Maj. Armstrong of the —th infantry. While the party were quietly conversing a sudden clamor of angry voices from the road below drew them all to the front of the veranda.

The cause of the disturbance was visible at once. Two half-drunken English soldiers, swaggering along the road, had come into violent contact with a native boy who was running past; and one of them, enraged at the collision, had felled the poor lad to the ground, and was unclasping his own belt with the evident intention of beating him unmercifully.

"Served the young whelp right," shouted the colonel, rubbing his hands; "that's just what they all want."

The other officer, Maj. Armstrong—popularly called Maj. Strongarm—was a huge, brawny, silent man, whose forte lay in acting rather than talking. To leap to the ground twelve feet below, to dart across the garden, to vault over the high stockade beyond, was the work of a moment for the athletic major; and in another instant he had raised the fallen boy tenderly from the ground, while saying to the foremost soldier, in the low, compressed tone of a man who means what he says:

"Be off with you!"

"And who the deuce are you, shovin' yer nose in where you ain't wanted?" roared the infuriated ruffian, to whose eyes the major's plain evening dress bore no token of his being an officer; "just you—"

The sentence was never finished. At the sound of that last insolent defiance, Armstrong's sorely tried patience gave way altogether, and the strong right hand which had hewed its way through a whole squadron of Sikh calvary, fell like a sledge hammer upon his opponent's face, dashing him to the ground as if he had been blown from the mouth of a gun.

"Well done, major!" shouted Mr. Currie from above. "You deserve your name, and no mistake." As the name of "major" the old soldier took to his heels; and Armstrong, without even looking at his prostrate antagonist, proceed to examine the injuries of the boy. The latter was sorely bruised in many places, and the blood was trickling freely over his swarthy face; but the little hero still did his best to stand erect, and to keep down every sign of the pain which he was enduring.

"You're a brave lad, and you'll make a soldier some day," said the major to him, in Hindoostanee. "Come with me, and I'll see that no one molests you again."

Six months have come and gone, and Mr. Currie's hospitable house presents a very different spectacle. The pretty garden is tramped into dust and mire, and the bodies of men and horses are lying thick among the fragments of the half-destroyed stockade. The windows of the house are blocked up, and through the loopholed walls peer the muzzles of ready rifles showing how steady the besieged garrison stands at bay against the countless enemies whose dark, fierce faces and glittering weapons are visible amid the half-ruined building and matted thickets all around. The Sepoy mutiny is blazing sky high over northern India, and Col. Ayres is blockaded in Hutta-Bagh, with a certainty of a hideous death for himself and every man of the few who are still true to him, unless help comes speedily.

Day was just breaking when two men held whispered counsels in one of the upper rooms.

"No fear of the water running short," said Maj. Armstrong; "but even upon half rations the food will be out in four days more."

"And then we'll just go right at them, and cut our way through or die for it!" growled the old colonel, with a grim smile on his iron face; for, with all his harshness and injustice, Col. Ayres was "grit" to the backbone. "We musn't say anything to them about it, though," added he, with a side glance at Mr. Currie, who, standing in the further corner, was anxiously watching the thin, worn face of his sleeping wife.

At that moment a loud cheer from below startled them both, and the next moment Ismail (the "major's boy," as every one now called him) burst into the room, with a glow of unwonted excitement on his dark face.

"Ahbh!" cried he, "there is hope for us yet! A detachment of English are coming up on the other bank of the river. If we can send word to them as they pass, we are saved!"

"How do you know?" asked the major, eagerly.

"I heard the Sepoys say so while I was lying hid among the bushes yonder," answered the lad.

"Among the bushes yonder?" roared the colonel, facing around. "Have you really been in the midst of these cut-throat villains, listening to what they said? What ever did you do that for?"

"I did it for Sahib Armstrong's sake," replied the boy, proudly, "because he was good to me."

"But if the troops are beyond the river, how can we communicate with them?" asked Mrs. Currie, who, awakened by the shouting, had risen and joined the group. "They may not pass near enough to hear the firing, and we have no means of sending them word."

"Fear nothing for that mem-sahib," (madam) said the Hindoo boy, quietly; "I will carry them word myself."

"But how can you possibly do it?" cried Mr. Currie, thunderstruck by the confident tone in which this mere child spoke of a task from which the hardiest veteran might well have shrunk.

"Listen, sahib," answered Ismail. "I will slip out of the house, and make a dash into the enemy's lines, as if I were deserting from you to them; and you can tell your people to fire a shot or two after me with blank cartridge, as I go. Then the Sepoys will receive me kindly, and I'll tell them that you're all dying of thirst, and that they need wait only one day more to be sure of you, so that they won't care to make another attack. Then when they have no suspicion, and think I'm quite one of themselves, I'll steal away and slip across the river."

"But are you quite sure the Sepoys will believe you?" asked Maj. Armstrong doubtfully.

"They'll believe this, anyhow," replied the boy, deliberately making a deep gash in his bare shoulder, and staining his white frock with blood, as he glided from the room, followed by the major.

The plan was soon explained to the men below, and a moment later Ismail's dark figure was seen darting like an arrow across the open space in front of the building, followed by a quick discharge of blank cartridges from the marksmen at the loop-holes. The sound of firing drew the attention of the Sepoys, several of whom ran forward to meet him. In another instant he was in the midst of them.

"I can scarcely see for those bushes," said Col. Ayres, "but he seems to be showing them the wound on his shoulder, and telling them it was our doing."

At that moment an exultant yell from the enemy told that Ismail's mission was clear.

"That's the story of our being short of water, for a witness!" said the major, as he was a very good idea of his. If it only delays their attack two days longer there may be time for help to arrive yet."

Slowly and wearily the long hours of that fearful day wore on. The heat was so terrific that even the native soldiers of the garrison could barely hold their own against it, and the handful of Englishmen were almost helpless. Had the Sepoys attacked them then, all would have been over at one blow; but hour passed after hour, and there was no sign of an assault.

At length, as afternoon gave place to evening, a movement began to show itself in the enemy's lines. Their curls of smoke rising above the trees, showed that the evening meal was in preparation, and several figures, with pitchers in their hands, were seen going toward the river, among whom the colonel's keen eyes soon detected Ismail.

"By George!" cried the old soldier slapping his knee exultingly, "that lad's worth his weight in gold! There's his way down to the river right open to him without the least chance of suspicion! Why he's a born general—nothing less!"

Every eye within the walls was now turned anxiously upon the distant group, fearing to see at any moment some movement which would show that the trick was detected. How did Ismail mean to accomplish his purpose? Would he plunge bodily into the river without any disguise or had he some further stratagem in preparation? No one could say. Suddenly, as Ismail stooped to plunge his light wooden dipper into the water it slipped from his hands and went floating away down stream. A cry of dismay, a loud laugh from the Sepoys, and then the boy was seen running frantically along bank trying in vain to clutch the vessel as it floated past.

"What on earth is he up to?" grunted the colonel, completely mystified.

"I see!" cried Maj. Armstrong triumphantly; "there's a boat yonder among the reeds, and he's making right for it. Well done, my brave boy!"

But at that moment a yell of rage from the Sepoys told that the trick was discovered. Luckily those on the bank had left their pieces behind, or poor Ismail would soon have been disposed of; but the alarm instantly brought up a crowd of their armed comrades, whose bullets fell like hail around the boat and its gallant little pilot.

"Let us fire a volley and make a show of sallying out," said the colonel; "it'll take their attention from him."

But in this he was mistaken. The first rattle of musketry did indeed recall most of Ismail's assailants, but at least a dozen were left who kept up an unceasing firing, striking the boat again and again. All at once the colonel dashed his glass to the floor with a frightful oath. Between two gusts of smoke he had seen the boat turn suddenly over, and go whirling away down the dark river, keel upward.

"There's an end of the poor lad," muttered the veteran, brokenly. God bless him for a brave little fellow! And now, old friend, we must just die hard, for there's no hope left."

The first few hours of the night passed quietly, and the exhausted defenders, utterly worn out, slept as if drugged with opium. But a little after midnight, the quick ears of the two veteran officers—the only watchers in the whole garrison, except the sentries themselves—caught a faint stirring in the surrounding thickets, which seemed to argue some movement on the part of the enemy. Listening intently for a few moments, they felt certain that they were right, and lost no time in awakening their men. The scanty stores of food were opened once more, and crouching together in the darkness, the doomed men took what they fully believed to be their last meal on earth.

They're coming," said Maj. Armstrong, straining his eyes into the gloom through a loophole. "I hear them creeping forward, though I can't yet see them."

"What the deuce was that?" exclaimed the colonel, suddenly. "It looked like a fiery arrow flying past."

"It's worse than that," said the major, in a low voice. "The rascals are shooting lighted chips of bamboo on the roof to set it on fire. Send the women up with buckets to flood the thatch—there's not a moment to lose!"

"I'll go and see to it myself," cried Mrs. Currie, hastening out of the room.

But the power of this new weapon had already become fatally manifest. The house was an old one, dry as tinder from the prolonged heat, and as fast as the flames were quenched in one place they broke out in another. When day dawned, the fire had already got a firm hold on one corner of the building, and a crushing discharge was poured upon all who attempted to extinguish it, while the triumphant yells of the human tigers below told that they felt sure of their prey.

"It's all over with us, old fellow," said the colonel, grasping his old comrade's hand; but at least, we shall have done our duty."

"Give me one of your pistols," whispered Mrs. Currie to her husband, in a voice that was not her own. "I must not fall into their hands alive."

At that moment Maj. Armstrong was seen to start and bend forward, as if listening intently; for he thought—although he could scarcely believe his ears—that he had suddenly caught a faint sound of distant firing. In another instant he heard it again, and this time there could be no doubt, for several of the others had caught it likewise, and a gleam of hope once more lighted up their haggard faces and blood shot eyes. Louder and nearer came the welcome sound, while the sudden terror and confusion visible among the enemy showed that they, too, were at no loss to guess its meaning. Then high above the din rose the well-known "Hurrah!" and through the smoke clouds broke a charging line of glittering bayonets and ruddy English faces, sweeping away the cowardly murderers as the sun chases the morning mist.

"That boy's worth his weight in gold," said Col. Ayres, as, a few hours later, he listened to Ismail's account of how he had dived under the boat and kept it between himself and the Sepoys, that they might think him drowned.

Small Houses More Homelike.

[Chicago Times.]

A writer on Washington homes says that it is safe to predict that in the house of medium or small size the truer artistic beauty of Washington homes will be found. Even many of the wealthy classes are reaching the conviction that small houses are more homelike than large, as a social assembly where a few are gathered together is preferable to the convocation of a mob.

The Chinese legation people at Washington all wear their native dress. The Japanese have discarded theirs.

An Ancient Pipe in Ireland.

[Philadelphia Press.]

Small tobacco pipes of an ancient form are frequently found in Ireland on digging or plowing up the ground, particularly in the vicinity of those circular intrenchments called Danish forts, which were most probably the villages or settlements of the native Irish. In the first volume of "Anthologia Hibernica," there is a print of one which was found at Bannockstown, County Kildare, sticking between the teeth of a human skull; and it is accompanied by a paper which goes to prove that the northern nations of Europe were acquainted with tobacco, or an herb of similar properties, and that they smoked it through small tubes—of course, long before the existence of America was known. The arguments in favor of the antiquity of smoking receive additional support from the discovery of several small clay pipes in the hull of a ship found some years since when excavating at Dantzig.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT TO RAISE a further sum of money for the purpose of extending the Water Works, constructing reservoirs to secure a more certain and equitable supply of water to all parts of the City, for carrying on the said Water Works upon such a scale as may be necessary to furnish an adequate supply of fresh water to the increasing population of the City; for the greater protection of the City against fire, and for other purposes in connection with the said Water Works.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly, at the office of the said Treasurer.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures, and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-20 of one cent in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property during the continuance of the said debentures, or any of them.

6. Section 3 of the Victoria Revenue By-law, 1881, is hereby amended by striking out the words "eight-tenths" and substituting the words "eleven-twentieths."

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. Staples, who has occupied the position of assayer for the bank of British North America, accompanied by his family, left for England this morning. Mr. Staples' health is not in a satisfactory state.

Mrs. Thistle and child, from Broughton, Ont., who have been guests at Mr. J. H. Todd's since last July, returned east this morning. Mrs. Thistle came here to restore her shattered health and found the change and climate so beneficial that she carries back with her an additional twenty pounds to her previous avoirdupois. This is but another evidence of the superiority of this climate over the east.

Funeral Obsequies.

The mortal remains of the late Mr. Edwin A. Leigh were yesterday interred in their last resting place in Ross Bay Cemetery. As already announced the deceased died in California on the 16th ult., whether he had gone in the hope of regaining his health. His remains were brought up by the Elder last week. The funeral took place from the Reformed Episcopal Church, and the following gentlemen acted as pall bearers, namely: Messrs. Judson Young, Prevost, Combe, Rowland Green, J. J. Austin, Thos. Russell, C. Pemberton, and Capt. Clarke. A somewhat remarkable coincidence in connection with the decease of Mr. Leigh and his funeral, is the circumstance that his father, the late city clerk, was interred last year likewise on the first Sabbath in May and his son this year on the corresponding Sabbath.

Fire at Esquimalt.

About 3o'clock to-day fire broke out in Jones' Hotel at Esquimalt, and before the flames could be brought under control the building was burned to the ground. A large part of the furniture was saved. The fire is believed to have originated in the kitchen. It is understood that the building was insured in the Northern Assurance Company for $5000.

ANTI-CHINESE MEETING.

To Protest Against some Provisions of the New Bill.

A Clear and Unmistakable Declaration that the "Chinese Must Go."

The meeting on Saturday evening to consider some of the clauses of the Chinese restriction act now before the House, especially the provision bringing it into force at a remote period, was largely attended by the workingmen of the city. Mayor Rithet presided and Mr. F. L. Tuckfield acted as Secretary.

Mr. Geo. Powell in introducing the first resolution, spoke of the exclusion of the Chinese as a question of defence. Manufacturers and merchants sought protection by legislation and nations enacted laws calculated to protect their own interests; then why should not working men be accorded the same privilege. They must and will have protection. The question the other evening was one of defence; but there is now an invader in our midst that we have reason to fear equally as much. Chinese will build the railways and dry dock, but they will not make them pay. He instanced the N. P. and compared the connection of Chinese therewith, in regard to its construction and operation with what was happening on the C. P. R. The system was not an economic one. The act, like other important laws, should be enforced immediately upon its passage; otherwise, as in California, Chinese would be poured into the country up to the very last day. He moved:

Whereas, the working classes of British Columbia, at public meetings and through their representatives in the local parliament, have repeatedly petitioned and protested against the introduction of Chinese in preference to white labor; and the Dominion Government, aided by Chinese supporters and admirers in this Province, have paid no attention to the just and lawful demands of the people, but have added insult to injury by preparing a farcical measure to restrict Chinese immigration, which does not become operative until the services of Chinese are no longer required on public works. Therefore be it resolved, That the working classes of British Columbia, and all others who are suffering from the effects of Chinese competition, call upon the trades unions of Canada for such active and political support as may be deemed necessary to cleanse the Government of tricksters and the country of Chinese vampires; and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the trades legislative council of Canada for publication in the eastern press."

This was seconded by Mr. S. Creech and carried unanimously.

Mr. W. A. Robertson contrasted this with the last meeting, when he saw all around the room men representing the capital of British Columbia; but to-night, when a meeting is called to fight a foe already in our land not one of these men are to be seen. They were interested in their pockets, and it was their policy to grind down the working men. He warned the present capitalists that nine out of every ten of the former wealthy men of this province were now bankrupt, and that the same fates might yet overtake them. All who advocate the expulsion of Chinese should be considered sincere, until proved otherwise. If the Chinese were necessary to the building up of British Columbia, why were they not necessary to the building up of every other province and state in the east. The statement is false. Thousands have come to this province to find their places taken up by Chinamen, and had to go elsewhere or become vagrants. He appealed to what is right, and what is right cannot be treason. The time for strong action has come and there may be more than one rebel if the wrongs are not redressed. He moved:

"That the Chinese are well known to be ruled by secret societies which enable them to combine with undue advantage against the whites; and that the best and only way to counteract the effects of such combination is by counter combinations against Chinamen—carried into effect by means of widely-spread ramifications of trades' unions, and enforced by a strict system of 'boycotting,' carried out rigorously against all those working in common with Chinamen, or employing them in any capacity whatever that can be done by our race, and more especially against white merchants dealing with the production of Chinese manufactures."

Seconded by Mr. Powell and carried unanimously.

Mr. A. Dods moved the next resolution. He said the Russians were an open enemy; with them we know what we have to do, but with the Chinese evil we do not know what to do. The Government should take such a stand that the Dominion Government would be compelled to step us in the work of keeping them out. He moved "that the so-called restriction act introduced into the Dominion Parliament by the Hon. Mr. Chapleau is not calculated to effectually check the influx of Chinese immigration into this province and has failed to satisfy the white population of British Columbia. That the report of the royal commission on Chinese immigration being based upon irresponsible and misleading statements is valueless, and the conclusions came to by the commissioners unwarranted even by the partial testimony before them."

Mr. S. Creech seconded the resolution.

Mr. J. C. McLagan said that while in the east he found much interest manifested in this country and information wanted on the Chinese question. He had conversed with many leading men on the question and assured the audience that the liberal party were in sympathy with the people of this province on that vexed question. There was an anomaly in the matter that should be righted ere a successful issue would be arrived at. People in the east could not comprehend how it was that the representatives from this province were found supporting the government on every question, while it was well known that it was hostile to any legislation upon the one momentous question. To remedy this and to bring the matter to a successful issue, our representatives should show a little more spirit of independence toward the Government.

Mr. W. N. Stewart said he was not very long from the East, where there was a very indistinct notion as to the Chinese evil. He had studied the question and the efforts being made to abate the nuisance, and had changed his views. He referred to the legislation passed by the Dominion Parliament, and the fate it had met with. By-laws were torn to pieces by the Supreme Court, and laws of the Legislature which were backed by public opinion were vetoed at Ottawa. Petitions were treated with absolute contempt. The will of the people must rule, and it was not for the people at Ottawa to say that there was no nuisance. When a whole people protested, all cannot be wrong. The Commission was a farce; the appointment of Chapleau stamped it as such. It should be clearly brought home to the authorities that if there is any trouble they will have themselves to blame. Every person has a legal right to abate a nuisance. He moved:

"That the people of British Columbia have shown themselves patient and long-enduring under grievous wrongs; that they have repeatedly petitioned the Dominion Government for redress; that they held numerous public meetings to make known their wants and wishes; that the City Council of Victoria has passed by-laws on the same subject, which the Governor-General acting on the advice of the Dominion ministry, has vetoed; that every constitutional means has been resorted to and exhausted to obtain justice and without effect or beneficial result, on account of the ill-advised and misinformed partiality of the Dominion authorities in favor of the Chinese. And that if in consequence the people should find themselves compelled to take the law into their own hands, as a last resort, and/or bate by forcible means a public nuisance as they undoubtedly have the right to do, then the Dominion Government and the judges of the supreme court should and must be held answerable for any rioting or even bloodshed which might unfortunately accompany a general uprising of the white laboring classes in vindication of their just rights against their natural enemies—the Chinese."

Seconded by Mr. Hamilton, and supported in a sensible speech by Mr. Findley.

Mr. T. Davie referred to his course on this question. He considered it anomalous that our representatives at Ottawa should continue to support a Government that refused to give us justice. He was a conservative and in accord with the Government on most of their measures, but under the circumstances he thought our representatives should be relieved from their obligations to vote with the Government on all questions. He strongly opposed the last clause of the resolution, bearing on the judiciary, and subsequently moved that it be struck out.

Mr. J. Robson said the resolution took the ground that we have exhausted constitutional means and now must resort to lynch law. He went into an explanation of the local Chinese Registration Act, the machinery of which was about to be set in motion, and closed by appealing to the audience to expunge the last clause. It would, he said, do the cause great harm.

Mr. C. Booth spoke in the same strain, but even his fervid oratory could not influence the audience, who were enthusiastically in favor of the resolution as it stood.

Mr. J. C. Doherty, who introduced himself as a hod carrier, took the stand, and in a few minutes swept away what little impression had been made by the special pleading and sophistry of the politicians. It was facts in corduroy against logic in broadcloth. With a terrible earnestness, in a high tone of voice, and with wild gesticulation, the speaker pictured his position as a bread-winner and demanded justice. "I travel," said he, "five miles every day to my work, for which I get $2 a day. I am idle at least six months in the year, thus reducing my wages to $1 per day. I have eight mouths to feed on this $1 a day, or an average of 12 cents a day for each. Before I am forced by Chinese to leave the country, and my children, I will sacrifice the last drop of my blood, and some other will flow with it." Earnestness was depicted in every lineament of the man's face, and as he resumed his seat he was enthusiastically applauded.

The resolution was then put and carried unanimously.

Mr. J. C. McLagan then moved: "That it be an instruction from this meeting, representing, as it does the electors of the city of Victoria, to the city representatives at Ottawa, to use every effort to insist on the Government carrying through its several readings the Chinese Restriction Act recently introduced, and that when same came up for a second reading it be so amended as to become operative on and after first of July next. That in the event of the Government failing to comply with the oft repeated wishes of the people of this city on the Chinese question the city members be further instructed to consider whether a continued support of the Government of the day is now in the best interest of the province.

The motion was carried, and a committee of ten was appointed with Councillor Robertson as chairman to take necessary action in the matter. The meeting then adjourned.

WATER WORKS.

BY-LAW.

TO THE RATE PAYERS:

I am instructed by the unanimous resolution of the Municipal Council to publish the following facts bearing upon the By-Law to authorize the loan of $70,000 for Water Works purposes, which is to be submitted to the voters for approval or otherwise on 5th May next, viz:

1st.—That the loan does not impose any additional taxation.

2nd.—That the taxation named in the By-Law is the proportion of the present taxation specially set apart as security for there payment of the loan with interest.

3rd.—That the supply of water cannot be fairly and equitably furnished to all parts of the city unless the proposed reservoir system be adopted.

4th.—That a large number of applications for water service have been refused during the past four months.

5th.—That the loan is estimated to provide not only for the construction of the reservoirs, engines and land necessary for the purpose, but provides $12,000 for the extension of the mains within the city limits.

6th.—That since the commencement of this year, eighty-five new services have been furnished, the revenue from which is fully $100.00 per month.

7th.—That with the increased supply it may be safely estimated that the increased revenue will be sufficient within the next two years to meet the amount of $6372, which is required to provide for the sinking fund and interest on the proposed loan.

8th.—That the protection of the city against fire which the new system will provide should have an important bearing upon the action of the voters.

9th.—That in the event of the By-Law not passing, many important manufacturing industries in the immediate neighborhood of the city will have to be deprived of the use of the water now supplied to them, private services of water outside the city limits will be shut off, and all services for irrigating purposes will be discontinued.

10th.—That the adoption of the proposed reservoir system will afford facilities for the proper filteration of the water furnished to the city, and will greatly improve its quality.

11th.—That the Council are of the opinion that the adoption of the proposed By-Law will be of great benefit to the city at large, from a sanitary point of view, in providing an abundant supply of water for the use of the city, in connection with an improved sewerage system which will require to be adopted at no distant date.

12th.—That voters desiring fuller information upon this subject, will be furnished with the same upon making application to the Water Commissioner, Mr. Thomas Russell.

R. P. RITHET, Mayor.

Engineers' Report.

VICTORIA, July 15, 1884.

TO HIS WORSHIP THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL—GENTLEMEN:—Having been invited by you to consider the scheme proposed by Mr. Hendry, the Superintendent and Engineer of the Water Works of this city, or to suggest any alternative scheme for supplying water to the inhabitants of the higher levels, we have to report that we have carefully examined into the plans prepared by Mr. Hendry, which are based upon those adopted by eminent engineers and successfully worked at Brighton and Aberdeen, in Great Britain, and have checked generally the figures embodied in his report and the details of the estimates of the cost of the work, and have found the same to be substantially correct. We need not reiterate all the figures given by Mr. Hendry in his report dated March 22d, 1880, or the arguments adduced by him to show the necessity which exists from undertaking this work, but we feel it to be our duty to emphasize that portion of his report which treats of the danger to the city which arises from the fact that in the event of a fire occurring on a really large scale the present system is quite inadequate to supply water necessary for its extinction. Should such a fire occur when the main pipe is either out of order or undergoing repairs or renewal, nothing could, humanely speakly, save the city from destruction. The works proposed to be undertaken can be made to pay a good interest on the amount to be expended, without undue burdens being imposed on any one.

We have the honor to be, gentlemen, your most obedient servants.
